

Week 16 - History

What happened to the Anglo-Saxons and Vikings?

Around the end of the 8th century, Anglo-Saxon history tells of many Viking raids. These marked the start of a long struggle between the Anglo-Saxons and the Vikings for control of Britain.

In the 9th century, the English king Alfred the Great stopped the Vikings taking over all of England. He agreed to peace with them and some Vikings settled down to live in their own area of eastern England, called the Danelaw.

The Anglo-Saxons and Vikings became neighbours in Britain, but they didn't always get along peacefully.

Task 1

Follow this link to the BBC Bitesize website to find out more

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/topics/ztyr9j6/articles/z8q487h>

Task 2

Research King Cnut the Great and present a short fact file about him. You can find out more about him following this link. <https://www.historyforkids.net/canute-the-great.html>

As always, please feel free to email any work as a picture or document to your class teacher or to Mrs Sissons at jsissons@appleton.hull.sch.uk by Friday 10th July by 12pm